A WORD FROM THE RECTOR

Collegium Civitas is a higher educational establishment founded in 1997 by a joint initiative of professors from the Polish Academy of Sciences. The university has a status of non-for-profit organization which corresponds with its societal mission. Since the very beginning and for the whole 15 years of its existence, Collegium Civitas has developed and kept the highest educational standards comparable to the ones offered by the renowned European and American universities. These are high positions in the National University Rankings, positive employers' opinions and successful career paths of Collegium Civitas graduates that prove it.

At Collegium Civitas we consider the highest level of education our major priority. Our faculty combines the quality of academic instruction, brought from close connections with the Polish Academy of Sciences and its prominent scholars and professors, with the practical approach of the best Polish and foreign specialists in the fields of diplomacy and public administration, security and international policy, media and journalism, business and market studies. This unique characteristic of our university allows us to cope with contemporary challenges. We have remained faithful to the mission of the university, formulated at the times of its origination – to educate the future public elites, politicians and media people, researchers and analysts. At Collegium Civitas we also strive to hand down to our students fundamental civic values, symbolically related to the name of the university itself.

Our aim is not only to transfer to our students the fascinating interdisciplinary knowledge allowing them for greater understanding of social phenomena, but also to facilitate the acquisition of practical skills, which can guarantee them an advantageous position on the job market and open career paths in many professional undertakings.

Since the very beginning, Collegium Civitas has been a bilingual university. We offer a wide range of degree programmes conducted in the English language. Collegium Civitas is honoured to welcome students from over 50 countries. Our university has signed about 60 agreements within Erasmus student exchange programme as well as many bilateral contracts with other universities (e.g. American) beyond the Erasmus network.

The motto of Collegium Civitas is Lifelong Learning, our academic offer contains different types of courses: from Bachelor and Master degree programmes, through postgraduate and doctoral studies, up to the courses offered within the University of the Third Age. The common trait that unites all our students and course participants is their will to improve qualifications and skills, broaden their interests and scope through a direct contact with the best academic and professional faculty.

We remain loyal to the idea of educating our students in accordance with the major civic values, yet we try to avoid mere imposing our vision on them. This principle goes along with our byword: "Gradu diverso, via una" – which means "The same road, by different steps". What we mean by this is heading for the common aim with respect for diversity and individual ways to reach this goal.
